CONDUCTOR CHARLES TAFT

Dies Suddenly at His Home in Providence—Overcome While on Train.

Charles Taft, for 35 years a railroad man in the employ of the New Haven road, and well known in Willimantic, died suddenly at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at his home in Providence, Saturday night he left Providence bound for Willimantic as usual on the 11 o'clock train, on which he was conductor. He was overcome before the train had reached the city limits and he was taken off at Lytle street and removed to his home.

For the past six years he has been conductor on the train that reaches Willimantic at ten o'clock from Providence and had passed his nights in this city during that time. On Saturday the train waits for the theater crowds and sets here at 12:30 a. m.

Conductor Taft was known as an efficient and courteous official and many Willimantic friends were grieved to hear of his death. He leaves his wife and a daughter.

Driving Accident.

An accident befell a two-seated wagon about 4 o'clock Monday morning near the ruins of the Willimantic car barn. Crossing the car track a week hauled by a horse, which was occupied by three women and a man, in a somewhat embarrassing condition.

Moved After 60 Years.

After building 60 years in one spot, the little building that has been occupied as an office by Murphy Bros. at 55 Church street, was given the benefit of a change of location Monday.

The one-story frame structure was moved from in front of Murphy Bros' new barn around into the road and up the street, where it will be out of the way of the new brick building, 55 by 80 feet, which is to be erected and the excavating and collecting loads is nearing completion. The moving of the building was an all day's job for half a dozen men, whose observance of the holiday differed from that of most of the citizens.

UNEVENTFUL HOLIDAY.

Business Generally Suspended—Citizens on Pleasure Bent.

Labor day in Willimantic was just as quiet and as peaceful as had been predicted. Six hundred or more went to Hartford for the morning train, and the trolleys southbound to Norwich and northbound to Lake Waukegan carried capacity loads. The 3:15 car to the lake has nearly one hundred and fifty aboard. At the same time there were many coming into the city, and the streets were far from deserted. It was a bad abiding crowd, however, and Captain Richmond and his force were compelled to make but

WINDHAM HIGH SCHOOL OPENS TODAY

Five New Teachers on the Faculty—New Two-Year Course in Stenography and Typewriting—Large Enrollment Expected.

With equipment unequalled in the past and with an especially strong faculty, Windham high school opens this morning at 9:15 o'clock for the session 1911-12. An entering class of 120 pupils is expected, while the total number of students in the high school will be approximately 220. The membership of the senior class will reach nearly 70, if all who are expected attend.

Principal Egbert A. Case, who heads the new teachers this year number five. Miss Brick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brick, Wellesley 1910, returns to conduct classes in English in the school from which she graduated in 1908. Mr. Shea of Middlebury, Vt., Middlebury college '09, comes here after two years' experience as principal of the Western high school, Vermont. Mr. Nelson taught considerably before he graduated at the college last June; he played football on the Trinity varsity football team and will have charge of athletics at Windham High. Mr. Nelson's home is in Woodstock. Mr. Waugh of Worcester, Mass., graduated at the Massachusetts agricultural college and at Boston university and has taught chemistry two years at Rockland, Me., while Miss Gough of Taunton, Mass., comes well recommended, having studied domestic science and had teaching experience.

There is this year a full equipment in the laboratories of physics and chemistry, and the laboratory work will play the important part it should in the teaching of these natural sciences.

It has not been found necessary to change the courses in force at the high school last year, with the exception of the commercial course, which has been extended, that a two years' course in stenography and typewriting is offered this year. The school possesses ten machines, four of them new, for the use of the classes in typewriting. The tuition has been raised from $15 to $18 this year to aid in meeting expenses.

Both suits involve the sale of the bakery. The first two plaintiffs claim the defendant agreed to pay them $150 if they would find him a purchaser.
